When should I take my child to the dentist?
It is recommended that children should go to the dentist as soon their first teeth come through.

Remember:
Keep sugary foods and drinks to mealtimes only.
In-between meals choose healthy snacks and drinks.
Make sure your children brush their teeth properly — twice a day under an adult supervision.
Only use a pea sized amount of tooth paste.
There is no need to rinse, just spit out when you have finished brushing.
Family fluoride toothpaste strengthens teeth.
Take your children for regular check-ups at the dentist.

How goats change lives

A poor African family receives a goat that will change their lives forever!

This Christmas, give a FARM FRIEND. Your gift will grow and grow.

Some of the kids are kept to increase the size of the herd. One is returned to FARM Africa and then given to another poor family.

When the goat gives birth, her milk feeds her kids and the family's children.

Excess milk is sold to buy books and medicine in times of emergency goats can be sold too.

Christmas is for kids

This year's best Christmas gift!
